

Great news! Someone has generously agreed to provide a scholarship for a community member who is interested in attending this course but cannot afford the fee.
Anyone interested, please ask Jodi about the scholarship when you contact her.

Want to know how to grow organically? Need experience with CSAs? Organic Farming Practicum Now available for Continuing Education Credits!

Summer 2010

❖ Organic Farming Practicum

An experiential field-course that integrates hands-on farm work with lectures/discussions on organic farming and sustainable food systems, and field trips to local farms. The course will run from May 20th – August 5th at the U of I Organic Farm in Moscow. Topics include: production methods, soil fertility management, organic certification process, community supported agriculture (CSAs), season extension and pest management.

For more information and registration form contact

Jodi Johnson-Maynard at:
885-9245; jmaynard@uidaho.edu

CULTIVATING  SUCCESS™ sustainable small farms education

Registration Due Date: May 20, 2010

One scholarship to cover course fee of $125 is available